WHITE TAIL DEER

Saskatchewan, Canada

Located in the heart of Saskatchewan, on a huge private land of 800,000 acres and it runs along a provincial park. It is a preferred habitat, namely for (whitetail) deer and black bears, with its valleys and rivers at the edge of the boreal forest and farmlands. There is substantial and abundant game, which allows us to harvest an impressive number of trophies each year.

Very few places in the world can boast of harboring trophy class whitetail deer like in Saskatchewan, which actually holds the world record of the largest deer harvested.

Considered one of the best big game hunting destinations in the world, Saskatchewan attracts many deer, bear and migratory bird hunting enthusiasts from around the world. They are all looking to bring back their dream trophy and are ready to take on the challenge proposed.
